GREEN'S LEAD CONTINUES TO MOUNT

NEW TYPE OF CAMPAIGN IS BEING WAGED

RADIO AND PRESS TAKE PLACE OF STUMP

BY DAVID LAWRENCE.

(Copyright 1928, by the Escanaba Press)

Washington, Sept. 5.—As the campaign swings into September with about two months of the time left before the battle is over, it is becoming clear that the old-fashioned method of reaching the voter by personal appeal on the stump has been abandoned.

Intensive campaigning by means of transcontinental trips and long itineraries in pivotal states have given way to a "few prepared addresses." This is Mr. Hoover's plan and to a large extent it is Governor Smith's too. The answer is that the press and the radio are counted upon as adequate means of reaching the electorate. Heavy expenditures by both parties for the privilege of using the long distance telephone lines that hook-up the broadcasting stations are in the budgets of both parties. While it is true that the speaker is not yet visible to the eye—he will be in 1932, doubtless, when it is hoped television will be perfected—but the public sees enough of the candidates faces either in the illustrated newspapers and magazines or in the movies.

Power of the Voice.

This is the first campaign in which so much dependence is being placed on the power of the voice over radio. The campaign managers are reluctant to come to it, and there are indications that the Smith managers have not yet made up their minds finally to have their candidate do as little traveling as Mr. Hoover plans to do, but the Smith tour will not begin to compare with the Cox trip in 1920 or the Taft and Bryan trips of previous year. Those trips comprised five consecutive weeks of speech-making every day and often three times a day, with numerous back platform appearances and impromptu utterances.

Personality as revealed in the voice will be a factor of importance in the broadcasting and already the voters are talking about the impressions they gained of the candidates by listening to their acceptance speeches. The candidates were warned in advance that radio broadcasting is not the same as speaking before an audience and that there is such a thing as radio elocution but they have not grown accustomed to it yet. By the end of the campaign it is probable that both candidates will have caught the knack of transmitting personality over the air.

Other Stars to Speak.

Meanwhile plans are being made for "star speakers" on the air with cabinet officers and other celebrities on the program. There is some talk too of radio entertainment by orchestras and glee clubs, all of which will help do their part in keeping the mind of the listener on the big contest that is going on.

It's a new kind of campaign—more words are being printed in the press about it, more space being given to the speeches and more time being given by the average voter listening in on his radio or watching the campaign developments in the movies than at any time in the past. It's a large experiment in communication of thought to the masses of the people—mass campaigning, it might be called, to keep abreast of other developments in an age of mass production.

Michigan Circuit Court Judges Hold 36th Annual Meet

Lansing, Sept. 5—(AP)—Circuit court judges of Michigan, who met here today in the supreme court chamber of the state capitol for their thirty-sixth annual conference, upheld the state's new criminal code and demanded a fair trial for it before any changes are made.

Several proposals for amending the criminal code were defeated by the judges' association. An amendment designed to remove probation, is successfully completed, from the felony list was the most important to meet the disapproval of the judges.

Judge Jesse H. Root, of Monroe, urged the retention of the clause in the criminal code requiring life sentencing on a fourth felony conviction. In discussing the criticisms arising out of the case of Fred Palm, now serving a life sentence following a conviction for the possession of a pint of gin, Judge Root declared the fourth felony clause "was made to protect the public against the criminals and should be given full support."

Judge Glenn E. Waner of Paw Paw was elected president of the association. Other officers are: Vice president, Judge Glenn C. Gillespie, Pontiac; secretary-treasurer, Judge Jesse H. Root, Monroe; presiding circuit court judge, Judge J. Dingeman, Detroit. Judge Kelly S. Searles of St. Johns was made a member of the committee on legislation.

HOOVER HEARS GOOD REPORTS

Conferences Give Candidate Idea of Strength in West, South

Washington, Sept. 5—(AP)—Herbert Hoover shifted his gaze today from the important eastern sector to survey the political horizon in central, western and southern border states.

in a series of conferences with Republicans from Ohio, Kentucky, Tennessee and the farming states west of the Mississippi, the presidential nominee received reports of changes in the political situation that have occurred since he journeyed to Washington from the Pacific coast more than a week ago.

At the same time he received a report from J. R. Nutt of Cleveland, treasurer of the Republican national committee, revealing that that organization had collected a total of $560,039 during the month of August and had expended $263,899. This brought the total expenditures of the committee on August 31 to $312,216 and collections to $658,418.

Senator Smith W. Brookhart, of Iowa, one of those who brought him news from the west, went the general situation with the nominee and discussed again with him the problem of farm relief. The senator said that on the whole the situation in the west was looking even brighter as the campaign moved forward.

Davis Also Reports

"Hoover proposes to make the Republican party platform on farm relief effective," the Iowa senator declared after the conference, "and he knows how to do it. He already has handled ten billion dollars worth of surplus farm products and during that period the farmers were more prosperous than they have been in years."

Senator Brookhart declared that the record of the Republican nominee during the war had demonstrated that he was the friend of the farmer and indicated that the drive launched by Republican speakers in the western campaign would center around an effort to bring the farmers to this point of view.

A similarly optimistic report of the western situation came to Hoover from Secretary of War Davis, who, returning to Washington from a trip to Hawaii, said that since the delivery of the acceptance speeches of the two presidential candidates there had been a noticeable swing to Hoover in the west.

Indian Nobleman Named in $60,000 Suit by Woman

Bombay, India, Sept. 5—(AP)—Once again the name of Tukojirao Holkar, former Maharajah of Indore, has been linked publicly with that of a woman in such a way as to call widespread attention to the erstwhile Indian potentate.

Twice before at least has this happened: once in 1925 when the merchant friend of a former dancing girl of his was murdered in Bombay, and just this year when he, an oriental, chose an American girl, Miss Nancy Miller of Seattle, Washington, for a bride.

Today it was the former member of the household of a cousin who charged him with luring her to his own residence and there attempting to gain her daughter as his mistress. When she thwarted his purposes, she says, he caused both her and her daughter to be imprisoned, keeping them incarcerated for more than eleven years while he, meanwhile, despoiled her residence of furniture and jewelry.

The charges are made in the course of a high court appeal case in which the woman, Sowkabai Pandarination Rajpurkar, asks for 183,000 rupees (about $60,000) to compensate her for alleged damages.

HOOVER, CALAMITY EXPERT, SHOULD BE DEMOCRATIC

Beverly Hills, Calif., Sept. 5—Well, it looks like everybody has accepted now that is going to accept, so now they can settle down to see what chance they have of receiving what they have already accepted. Being associated with national calamities more or less for years, you would think that Hoover belonged on the Democratic ticket, wouldn't you?

Yours,
WILL ROGERS.

7 FINANCIERS FACING CHARGE

Men Were Using Mails to Defraud, Indictment by Jury Says

Boston, Sept. 5—(AP)—Seven mid-western financiers were charged with conspiracy to use the mails in a scheme to defraud through the sale of nearly $1,000,000 worth of securities in farm loan companies in a joint indictment returned by a federal grand jury here today.

Those named in the indictment were Guy Huston, John E. Huston, John L. Boyles and Harold A. Smith, all of Chicago, Walter E. Cravens, Kansas City; Oran F. Schee and Vernon U. Sigler, Des Moines.

The charges involve the sale of securities in three companies, the Missouri Kansas Farm company, the Farm Company of Massachusetts and Farmers' Fund of Illinois. It is charged that the companies were represented as having been organized to lend money to farmers in the middle west and to take second mortgages on farms already mortgaged to the Federal Joint Stock Land Banks.

The government alleges that the men under indictment misused the funds of the companies by putting them into mid-western banks in which they were interested, that the companies did not loan the money to any local banks for the benefit of farmers and in only a few instances took any second mortgages on farms already mortgaged to the land banks.

Securities in the companies were sold to many prominent residents of Massachusetts and New England, including President A. Lawrence Lowell of Harvard who is said to have purchased $70,000 worth of securities of the Farm Company of Massachusetts.

No Settlement Is Made in Dispute Over Wage Scale

Chicago, Sept. 5—(AP)—A third day of conferences between officials of the Brotherhood of Railroad Trainmen and the Order of Railway Conductors closed tonight with no apparent progress toward settlement of demands on western railways for wage increases. The conference will be resumed tomorrow.

Fear Tong War in Oakland Chinatown

Oakland, Cal., Sept. 5—(AP)—Fear of impending Tong war halted activities in Oakland's Chinatown tonight as a result of discovery of the body of L. C. Yee, 35, wealthy Chinese merchant of Oakland, San Francisco and Reno, at headquarters of the Hop Sing Tong here today.

HIGH TARIFF, PROMISE OF SEN. CURTIS

CANDIDATE STIRRING POLITICAL POT IN EAST

Boston, Sept. 5—(AP)—Massachusetts Republican fires were fanned today by Senator Curtis, the party's vice presidential nominee, at a round of meetings and conferences.

Before a Republican rally at Norumbega park the nominee again advocated a higher protective tariff and called for the election of the Republican ticket to put it into effect. He said the Democrats were prepared to remodel the tariff downward along the lines of the Underwood bill of 1913.

To a crowd on Boston Common he declared his pride in the record of the party's administration during the last seven years and asked for its retention in power on that record. He stated that during that period taxes have been cut four times, the national debt has been sliced by about $7,000,000,000 and appropriations have been reduced from $7,000,000,000 to about $4,000,000,000.

Hits at Smith.

The name of President Coolidge was mentioned by every speaker of the day and always provoked applause. The senator emphasized that the policies of Herbert Hoover and of himself were the "policies of Calvin Coolidge."

The Kansan took some shots at Gov. Smith, the Democratic presidential nominee, declaring he had proposed to put the prohibition service under civil service and "apparently forgets that a Republican administration already has done that."

"If he is correctly quoted," Curtis continued in referring to Gov. Smith, "he would wipe out one of the great bureaus which spends $500,000,000 annually for the veterans—the Veterans Bureau. He says he will give us a wonderful building program. If properly informed he would know that this administration has given the nation the greatest public building program in history."

Witnesses Deny Nun Was Involved In Murder Plot

Mexico City, Sept. 5—(AP)—Further details of the charges against Mother Concepcion that she was involved in an alleged plot to kill President Calles and General Obregon and to manufacture bombs were made today during examination of some of those under arrest with her. During the present examination, when they are confronted directly by the nun, several witnsses have changed the testimony previously sworn to, giving as their reasons faulty memory or hearing or misunderstanding of previous question.

Baby, 2 Weeks Old, in Jail; Mother Is Held as Embezzler

Detroit, Sept. 5—(AP)—A two week-old baby girl was occupying quarters in police headquarters here tonight as the result of the arrest of her mother, Mrs. Howard Schnur, 23, late today on a charge of embezzlement of nearly $900 from an insurance company by which she formerly was employed.

Police officials, explaining there was no alternative than the arrest and incarceration of the mother after the securing of a warrant by an official of the insurance company, provided a separate room for the infant and her mother.

Kohler Wins Republican Nomination in Wisconsin

30 PLANES IN AERIAL DERBY

Two Entrants Forced to Drop Out of Transcontinental Race

Columbus, Ohio, Sept. 5—(AP)—Thirty of the class A airplanes which left New York this morning on the trans-continental derby to Los Angeles had arrived at Norton Field here at 5 p. m., today. They will remain overnight and will hop off at dawn tomorrow on their westward journey. Columbus is the third stop on the course.

Four pilots who left McKeesport, Penn., the second stop were unaccounted for early tonight. One of them, George Brill, San Gabriel, California, piloting a Travelair, was reported to have made a forced landing near Lebanon, Pa. Another machine, believed to be a Curtis Robin, piloted by S. P. Gilley, was reported forced down near Coastville, Pa.

Early Rowland, Witchita, Kan., led the aerial caravan into the Columbus airport, landing his machine at 11:10 a. m. He was followed six minutes later by Robert Drake, Pittsburgh, piloting the American Moth.

All pilots were given a rigid examination by Dr. Wiltberger tonight to make certain that they were in condition to continue the race.

Each pilot brought his machine into the local airport under perfect control and each declared he was ready to proceed westward. Mechanics commenced servicing the planes and tuning up the motors immediately after arrival.

Two Planes Out

Pittsburgh, Sept. 5—(AP)—Two of the 33 ships which left Middletown, Pa., second control stop in the Class A Air Derby, today failed to report at the third control stop, McKeesport. They were piloted by Walter E. Nicol of Detroit who made a forced landing near Boston Pa., and Paul Bates Charles, who made a forced landing near Woodlawn, Pa. Both of the planes were damaged and will be unable to continue, it was said at Bettic Field, McKeesport tonight. The occupants were unhurt.

With Nicol was Dr. Joseph A. Nowicki of Detroit. Nowicki had entered two Mohawk Pinto monoplanes in the race, but the one he was to have flown did not get off the ground at Roosevelt Field because of mechanical trouble and he flew with Nicol.

Pick Successor to George C. Brennan

Springfield, Ill., Sept. 5—(AP)—Thomas F. Donovan, of Joliet, the chairman of the state Democratic Committee, tonight was elected Democratic National Committeeman, the post made vacant by the death of George E. Brennan. He was chosen by the unanimous vote of the State Central Committee after Michael Igoe, Chicago, had withdrawn.

Until yesterday, Igoe had insisted he be given the office, declaring that he was named by Brennan as his political heir.

Downstate leaders apparently were unimpressed with Igoe's declaration. They declared that Brennan's dictatorship had really brought grief to the Democratic party in Illinois and that they wanted no successor to Brennan's throne.

Members of the committee made it plain that the successor to Brennan's office on the National committee was to receive only the honor of the office, not the power, which was Brennan's.

Robert Ingersoll, Watch Maker, Dies

Denver, Sept. 5—(AP)—Robert Ingersoll, watch manufacturer and originator of the Ingersoll watch, died yesterday at a sanitarium here where he had been a patient since June 17. Announcement of the death was made today.

Mr. Ingersoll, who was 69 years old, had suffered many years from Bright's Disease, which resulted in his death. Arrangements were made today for the removal of the body to New York City for burial.

The control of Ingersoll's watch making establishment which he established in 1892, passed out of the hands of Mr. Ingersoll and his brothers, Charles H., and Arthur N. Ingersoll, less than a year ago when the Waterbury company purchased the plant.

MANUFACTURER IS CANDIDATE FOR GOVERNOR

(Bulletin)

Returns from all but 103 of the 2,760 precincts in the state gave Kohler a lead of 136,000 over Governor Zimmerman. The figures were Kohler 219,443; Beck 197,952; Zimmerman 82,917.

With all but 103 precincts reporting LaFollette had 300,961; Mead 152,946.

Milwaukee, Sept. 5—(AP)—A new political figure, Walter J. Kohler, industrial leader with a platform of a "business administration for the state," has won the Republican nomination for Governor of Wisconsin.

His victory is without precedent in the history of the state. A novice in the political arena, Kohler defeated two seasoned opponents in the state primary elections yesterday by a majority which approached 25,000 votes. with a few scattering returns still to come.

Wisconsin electors showed a disregard for factional lines in the primary and although they defeated his candidate for governor, they turned to Senator M. LaFollette for the nomination for reelection.

LaFollette scored a personal triumph in the primary, being given a vote double that of his opponent, George W. Mead, Wisconsin Rapids paper manufacturer, a dry conservative Republican. The glory of that victory in his quest of a full term after filling the unexpired term of his father was somewhat dimmed by the defeat of Joseph D. Beck, for whom he campaigned throughout the summer for the gubernatorial nomination.

Eight Are Nominated

It was the second time LaFollette had failed in the role of a maker of governors. Gov. Fred R. Zimmerman, drawing his support from both factions, defeated Herman Ekern, backed by LaFollette two years ago. Nevertheless, the election was largely a Progressive victory. All the running mates of Kohler for minor state offices were buried under an avalanche of votes that nominated the four Progressive incumbents for re-election.

In addition, the eight Progressive congressmen running for reelection with opposition were nominated with good majorities. Congressman Florian Lampert had no opposition in the sixth; the Socialist, Rep. Victor Berger, from the Fifth, was nominated. Senator LaFollette and his faction, however, appeared to have lost the nomination in the Seventh to a Conservative, Merlin Hull, former Socialist, and were crushed in the Fourth district in Milwaukee. There LaFollette tried to bring about the defeat of Rep. John Schafer, who won by a wide margin. Several Progressives figured in the fight for the nomination to oppose Berger but a Conservative William H. Stafford, former congressman, was nominated.

Republicans in North Dakota Split on Hoover

Bismarck, N. D., Sept. 5—(AP)—Rejecting the leadership of Senators Lynn J. Frazier, Gerald P. Nye and others high in their party councils, the non-partisan wing of the Republican party in North Dakota today refused to endorse the candidacy of Herbert Hoover for the presidency.

The independent wing of the party, opposed to the league, however, endorsed Hoover and the record of the Republican party with respect to helping agriculture.

Action was taken at the meeting to organize the Republican state central committee, on which the non-partisans have 28 members and the independents 21.

Clerk, Who Claimed He Was Kidnaped, Confesses Robbery

Lansing, Sept. 5—(AP)—Erven Bates, a clerk in a United Cigar company store here, who yesterday told of being kidnaped and forced to yield the combination to the safe of the store after police had found $226 missing from the establishment, today confessed complete responsibility for the robbery.

PASTOR TARGET OF EGG ATTACK

Southern Minister Was Assailing Candidacy of Smith

Florence, Ala., Sept. 5—(AP)—The rostrum in the auditorium of the Lauderdale county court house here from which the Rev. George E. Wilburn, Little Rock, Ark., evangelist, was delivering an anti-Smith speech twice was pelted with eggs thrown by unidentified persons last night after he had engaged in a debate with a woman member of his audience over his utterances concerning Catholicism.

Although as the minister said, "the eggs came from every direction," no hits were scored but the rostrum was badly spattered. Mr. Wilburn never moved from his position during the bombardment and on its completion, finished his speech which was devoted to attacks on Gov. Smith of New York, the Democratic standard bearer.

Attacked Twice.

Miss Jem Weakley of Florence, Smith supporter, rose from her seat in the audience and interrupted Mr. Wilburn to take him to task for his criticism of Gov. Smith's adherents to Catholicism.

The young women was prepared to continue the debate when she was surrounded by other persons from the audience who prevailed upon her to leave.

Shortly after Miss Weakley's departure, the egg throwing began. Several were thrown from a doorway but none found its mark. After the minister had resumed his speech he was again made the object of an attack, this time from separate openings in the auditorium.

Coolidge Attends Fair in Superior

Superior, Wis., Sept. 5—(AP)—Breaking his rule of not emerging from the seclusion of Cedar Island Lodge more than twice a week, President Coolidge attended the tri-state fair in Superior today.

Accompanied by Mrs. Coolidge, the chief executive motored forty miles from the lodge to mingle with the thousands at the fair grounds.

Driving quickly past the side shows and amusement booths, Mr. Coolidge stopped in front of the livestock exhibits where cows, sheep and hogs elicted his admiration.

Most of Mr. Coolidge's time at the fair, however, was given over to watching trotting races. Seated in a special flag-draped box in the grandstand, both the chief executive and Mrs. Coolidge displayed the keenest interest in the trotting. Mr. Coolidge especially requiring minute information about various horses entered. An agricultural exhibition also was inspected by the president before returning to the executive residence.

Pestered by reporters and press photographers for weeks to permit them to witness his ability at trapshooting, President Coolidge consented today to allow them to be present as he shattered 27 targets out of 39 aimed at.

Movie House Men May Strike to Aid Orchestras

Chicago, Sept. 5—(AP)—Threats of a general strike which might darken every motion picture theatre in the city were made tonight by heads of the Stage Hands' and Motion Picture Operators' unions. Their threatened action came as a sympathy movement with the walkout two days ago of musicians in 300 outlying movie houses.

A peace conference, called for tonight, between exhibitors and musicians, broke up when Jack Miller, president of the Motion Picture Exhibitors' association, failed to appear. Thomas Maloy, business agent of the operators, and George Browne, head of the stage hands, immediately telephoned Miller their ultimatum.

20 Prisoners Look On While Three Cut Way Out of Window

Jackson, Mich., Sept. 5—(AP)—While 20 other prisoners looked on, three inmates of the county jail tonight sawed the bars of a window in a bell block, and jumping to the ground, made their escape. The 20 inmates made no move to make the affair a complete jail delivery.

The escaped prisoners are Delbert Wollett, 29; Daniel Novakowich, 18, and Jean Harris, 22. Deputy sheriffs, who went to lock the prisoners in their cells, discovered the escape about 10:30 o'clock.

HAS MAJORITY OF MORE THAN 200,000 VOTES

WELSH'S "STRONGHOLDS" FAVOR GOVERNOR

Detroit Sept. 5—(AP)—The avalanche of votes by which Governor Fred W. Green was swept into the Republican renomination in Michigan's primary election Tuesday was increased tonight to a majority of more than 200,000 when belated returns were received from 3,004 out of 3,184 precincts in the stat.

The incumbent, who practically conducted a campaign of silence against the oratorical efforts of his apponent, George W. Welsh of Grand Rapids, received 403,930 votes from the precincts reported, while Welsh received 189,038.

In the three cornered race for the Republican nomination for lieutenant governor, Luren D. Dickinson, incumbent, had a safe margin over his leading opponent, Fred L. Woodworth, of Detroit, although the latter made the best race of any of the unsuccessful state office candidates on the ticket. The returns from 2,963 of the state's 3,184 precincts gave:

Dickinson, 208,639.
Woodworth, 182,213.
G. E. McArthur, 91,127.

Vandenberg Unopposed

Frank J. Sawyer, of Grand Blancapparently had clinched the Democratic nomination for lieutenant governor, maintaining better than a 2 to 1 lead over Theodore Elferdink, of Grand Rapids. The vote for 2,962 precincts out of 3,184 was:

Elferdink 9,966.
Sawyer, 23,926.

Although U. S. Senator Arthur H. Vandenberg, of Grand Rapids, was unopposed for the Republican nomination, he polled a vote of 168,593 from about half the precincts of the state for the short term nomination and 201,215 for the long term.

William A. Comstock, who was unopposed for the Democratic gubernatorial nomination, received 8,858 votes from 3,004 precincts and John Bailey, Democratic senatorial candidate, who also was unopposed, received 7,788 votes on returns from 1,505 precincts.

A nip and tuck race for the Republican nomination for congress from the First District (Detroit) developed between Representative Robert H. Clancy, incumbent, and John B. Sosnowski, and was not decided until the late reporting precincts were heard from.

Race in Ninth

Sosnowski piled up a margin of more than 3,000 votes from belated ballots. The vote for the district complete was: Clancy, 21,960; Sosnowski, 18,280.

Another tight race developed in the Ninth District, where the veteran Congressman, James C. McLaughlin, aparently was renominated over Claude M. Curtis, of Ludington, and R. Glen Dunn, of Muskegon.

Second District—Earl C. Michener, (Rep); Grover L. Morden, (Dem).

Third District—Joseph L. Hopper (Rep); William L. Fitzgerald, (Dem).

Fifth District—Carl E. Mapes, (Rep); Frank C. Jarvis, (Dem).

PLEA IN VAIN.

Detroit, Sept. 5—(AP)—The plea of George W. Welsh, lieutenant governor under Alex J. Groesbeck, for nomination of the Green administration, was swamped under a tide of negative votes which swept from one corner of the state to the other, according to practically complete returns from Tuesday's primary election.

As reports filtered in today from the reputed strongholds of the Welsh candidacy they but emphasized the unanimity of Gov. Fred W. Green's strength in his quest for renomination. The governor came down to Wayne county, where Welsh expected to poll heavily, with a lead of more than 175,000. In the Detroit area instead of a sweep toward Welsh the steady setback for the Grand Rapids candidate continued. Green seemingly was assured of a majority over Welsh of 225,000 or better. With about 600 precincts remaining to be tabulated his lead had shot over the 200,000 mark.

Macomb Is Strongest.

Unless there is a last-minute reversal in one of the counties from which complete reports have not been received, Green has carried every county. His vote was far past the 160,361 lead he rolled up over Groesbeck two years ago, and his percentage of the votes cast was certain to be much higher. Indications were a total vote of 600,000 or more would be registered.

Welsh made his strongest bid in Macomb county, a Groesbeck stronghold and home of the former executive. There he travelled neck and neck with Green during much of the balloting. In sharp contrast to the support accorded Groesbeck in 1926 in the six counties he carried—Cheboygan, Houghton, Ontonogan, Marquette, Menominee and Oakland—Green was running from two to one to four to one ahead in these districts. The same ratio applied to many of the upper peninsula counties which were considered possible Welsh territory, and in Saginaw, Kalamazoo, Bay, Genesee and other districts Welsh adherents claimed. Wayne gave Green a three to two vote, recording 62,037 for him and 41,024 for Welsh in 538 precincts. Two years ago Gov. Green beat Groesbeck in Wayne by the scant margin of 121 votes. Iron county, which was pointed to as a possible Welsh spot, leaned heavily away from him.

Second Race Keen.

The campaign preceding the side for Green was exceedingly tame on his side. Welsh attacked him vigorously on many issues. In reply Green satisfied himself with pointing to his record in a single speech. In 1926 the Green-Groesbeck campaign was highly controversial, with Green making an active canvass for votes.

One of the races which excited keen interest among state officials and Republican party leaders was that for the nomination for lieutenant governor. Luren D. Dickinson, incumbent, walked away with the nomination. He brought sufficient votes from the rural districts to offset sharp inroads in Wayne county by Fred L. Woodworth, Detroit internal revenue collector. George Elmer McArthur, reputed klan candidate, ran far behind Dickinson and Woodworth.

The Republican lieutenant governorship campaign was conducted with party chiefs divided. Many state officials, friendly to Gov. Green, advocated Woodworth's nomination. The governor made no public commitment. State Senator Arthur E. Wood of Detroit, leader of many an anti-Green move, had supported Woodworth. This presumably left the executive between two fires, not caring to enter a theoretical coalition between enemies and friends. Dickinson has invariably had a tremendous following in the rural districts. He is an ardent dry worker and makes appearances on behalf of the dry cause in many parts of the state.

Democrats Unopposed.

The closest race on the state ticket was between Frank J. Sawyer of Grand Blanc, and Theodore Elferdink of Grand Rapids, for the Democratic nomination for lieutenant governor. Sawyer took the lead in the early returns and held it, but the margin see-sawed back and forth throughout the tabulation.

William A. Comstock, Democratic candidate for governor, and John W. Bailey, of Battle Creek, senatorial nominee for the Democrats, were unopposed. They sailed through to formal nomination with surprisingly light votes.

United States Senator Arthur H. Vandenberg likewise was without an opponent but the Republicans were more liberal in bestowing votes than the Democrats were upon their assured candidates.

Kent county, the home of Frank D. McKay, state treasurer, was the scene of a marked victory for Green, but also it defeated a friend of the administration and McKay when Senator James C. Quinlan was turned down for renomination. A similar condition existed in Detroit, where despite the efforts of Senator Wood, Green was accorded a winning vote and conversely, despite the efforts of administration adherents, Senator Wood won renomination.

Bombs Explode in Kenosha; 1 Hurt

Kenosha, Wis., Sept. 5—(AP)—Bombers rocked the northwest section of Kenosha tonight with the thirteenth blast of their dynamite campaign.

A woman employe of the Allen A. company was seriously injured when she was pelted with fragments of the exploding "pineapple." Her home was partially demonlished.

The home of Chauncey Pitts was the new bomb target. Pitts is a union tinner and has no direct connection with the Allen A. strike. His wife, however, is an inspector at the knitting plant.

Flapper Aviatrix Sets Altitude Record for Women; Atlantic Next

BY LORENA A. HICHKOCK
(Associated Press Staff Writer)

Curtis Field, N. Y., Sept. 5—(AP) Seventeen-year-old Eleanor Smith was officially informed today that she had made a women's altitude world record flight of 11,663 feet on August 21 and thereupon considered that her next great ambition was to fly the ocean; really fly it, not just go for a ride.

But she admitted that at the moment there were too seemingly insurmountable obstacles, to-wit:

1. "Pop won't let me."
2. "I'm too light, my legs are too short, and my arms aren't strong enough."

In the intervals of talking about a possible ocean flight the girl told something of her experience that sunny day when she climbed into her little green airplane with the green wings, gave it the gun and headed into the sun.

Out of Gas.

Up and up she rose. It grew colder and colder. After 20 minutes her hands were so stiff she no longer could pull down her furlined glove to look at her wristwatch.

She passed 5,000 feet and continued upward. Before she reached 6,000, her altimeter broke.

In the thin air, the ship began to wobble. It tried to go into a side slip and then suddenly the gas indicator pointed to "empty."

With two gallons of gas in her reserve tank, Eleanor Smith turned around—or down—and started home, playfully "shooting up" a couple of little, feathery clouds enroute.

The last drop of gas was gone when she taxied across Curtiss Field a few moments later, holder of a world record. She knew she had establisehd a record because there was no existing official record for women, but she didn't know how good it was until she heard today from the aeronautical association what the reading of her sealed barograph was.

"Suppose you got out there in the middle of the ocean and had to come down, like a lot of the rest of them," a reporter asked her as she talked of her trans-Atlantic ambition.

"If I came down in the ship lanes, where I might be rescued, I'd sit and wait. If I thought I wasn't—well, I guess I'd just have to shoot myself and call it a day."

"You mean you'd carry a revolver for that purpose?"

TRY TO SETTLE RAIL DISPUTE

B. of R. T. and O. R. C. Continue Negotiations On Wages.

Chicago, Sept. 4—(AP)—The joint session of representatives of the Brotherhood of Railroad Trainmen and the Order of Railway Conductors was adjourned tonight until 930 tomorrow morning when negotiations in the dispute over wage increases and working conditions will be continued.

It was understood that employes of 55 western railroads had voted virtually unanimous to strike, but that union officials were attempting to reach an amicable settlement.

The unions originally sought increases of from 10 to 18 per cent but it was understood they would accept the 6½ and 7½ per cent increases offered providing the railroads would agree to carry out the employes' stipulations on working conditions.

Purple Coal New Trade Experiment

Pottsville, Pa.—Purple anthracite coal, of so light a shade as to be almost pink, is on the market here.

The tinting is a new process in the coal industry, used to enable consumers to distinguish coal by its color. The Philadelphia and Reading Coal and Iron Company which adopted the purple shade announced that the color scheme is an endeavor to establish a hallmark of quality, and to prevent handling of their coal, when mixed with other brands, without indication of the exact proportions of the mixture.

Coloring is obtained by spraying with a purple paint when the coal at the colliery comes from the breakers into the railroad cars for shipment. Some research was necessary before the tinting succeeded. At first the color mottled, because the coal is wet when sprayed. Now an even, easter-egg effect has been attained. The paint does not wash off in tests, but may rub off with frequent handling. Officials of the company say tinting has no effect on combustibility of the coal. At present only the coal of one colliery is colored.

Another School for Indians.

Preliminary investigations have been made toward the establishment of a school for Indian children in Southeastern Alaska. The government has three such schools in the territory, but the Indians of the Southeastern section have been sending their children to a school in Washington. This school is now closed to them because of its crowded conditions. The proposed school will take its place.

Plane Falls 2,000 Feet; 2 Men Unhurt

Kalamazoo, Mich., Sept. 4—(AP)—Two local aviators climbed out of their wrecked machine almost uninjured here today after the plane fell into a marsh in a 2,000 foot nose dive. Ralph Dehaven, flying instructor, suffered some minor injuries to his back and Donald Polderdyke, student flyer, suffered abrasions about the face. Both walked away from the scene of the accident unassisted.

Dehaven was teaching his passenger some flying stunts when the plane went into a nose dive. He succeeded in righting the machine while it was a few hundred feet above the earth, but not soon enough to prevent it from striking the ground.

The accident was witnessed by several hundred persons who went to the airport to see the exhibition of stunt flying.

Rum Running is Not Recognized As a Business

Toronto, Ont., Sept. 5—(AP)—In a ruling which refused to recognize rum-running as a legitimate Canadian industry, Justice Rainey today dismissed a motion by the Walkerfield Brewing company to continue an injunction restraining a group of Walkerville business men from shipping from their docks any liquor but that supplied by the company.

Granting of the application, he said, "would mean recognition by this court of the rum-running business as a legitimate Canadian industry."

Aurora 600 Miles High Seen.

Dr. Carl Stromer, a Norwegian scientist, has reported one of the highest things ever seen by man. It was the aurora borealis, or northern lights, which occurred at least 300 miles above the earth, and parts of it may have been as high as 600 miles. These streamer ascended far enough to take on a rosy glow from the rays of the sun after it had set.

STATEMENT IS GIVEN COURT

Kelly Tells of All Day Tryst With Slain Woman

Los Angeles, Calif., Sept. 5—(AP)—The signed statement of Leo P. Kelly, detailing the events of his all-day tryst with Mrs. Myrtle Mellus, his society matron sweetheart, on the day of her death, was entered in his trial for her murder as one of the final maneuvers with which the state closed its case today.

The statement, in which the accused butcher boy admitted "I did things I don't remember, and raised cain when I got drunk," was one made to Deputy District Attorney Ellis Eagan soon after Kelly's arrest August 5.

Taking the stand as the final prosecution witness, Eagan read to the jury most of the 78 page statement, in which Kelly was quoted as saying he and Mrs. Mellus had "about nine drinks apiece" the morning of the tragic day in August. In it, Kelly confessed he "must have bit her lip," but denied remembering anything about inflicting the more than 100 bruises found on her body.

The statement dealt at large with his illicit relations with the slain wife of Frank Mellus, wealthy sportsman, but left unanswered many questions as to the explanation of much of his clothing being found in the same room as the woman's body and of bruises and scratches on himself.

As the state entered upon a final drive to convict Kelly, defense counsel announced that it would place Frank Mellus upon the stand as its first witness to show that his wife was an "habitual drunkard."

Third Man in Sewer Scandal Dies Strangely

New York, Sept. 4—(AP)—Police today were trying to discover why the third figure in the so-called sewer scandal to meet sudden death should have visited his own office under the disguise of an alias a few hours before his life was blotted out with a bullet through the brain.

William D'Olier, an important witness in the investigation of the "Queen's Sewer Ring" alleged to have defrauded the city of some $16,000,000, was found dead on Sunday night with a pistol clutched in his hand, but the authorities believed circumstances of the death indicated murder rather than suicide.

Today it was learned that on Saturday night a "stranger" gained access to D'Olier's office, signing on the building register the name of Gilbert C. Waldrop, D'Olier's lawyer and business associate. Investigation revealed that the "stranger" was D'Olier himself, and no explanation could be found for his use of Waldrop's name.

Police decided that the pistol gripped in D'Olier's stiffened fingers was a "plant" when the autopsy showed that the hole in his temple was not a "contact wound."

Since Maurice Connolly, former Borough president of Queens, was indicted in connection with alleged wholesale graft in the construction of sewers, two others besides D'Olier who were connected with the case have died under circumstances considered suspicious. They were John M. Phillips, sewer pipe agent jointly indicted with Connolly, and George A. Reading, a former agent for a bonding company that wrote insurance on sewer contracts.

Hotels of Cannes, France, are now receiving live trout for their dining rooms, the fish being raised in a trout farm near the city, and carried in special receptacles to the kitchens. Often they are displayed in transparent tanks in view of the guest so that he may choose his own fish. The farm was started because the rivers of the Alpes-Maritimes became fished out.

Radio Movies Step Nearer by Latest G. E. Invention

New York, Sept. 5—(AP)—Perfection of a receiving apparatus that advances television another step nearer the goal of "radio movies" in the home was announced today by Dr. E. F. W. Alexanderson, consulting engineer of the General Electric company.

The new development, he said, permits reception of a radio picture 12 inches square, making it possible to transmit and receive a life-size photograph of the human head, or two full pictures reduced in size.

Bandit Shot After Killing 9 Persons

Bucharest, Rumania, Sept. 5—(AP)—After killing nine persons while he was hiding in the woods and terrorizing the whole countryside, Stephan Balan, notorious bandit, was shot and killed today.

Woman Cannot Fill Vacancy in Office of Wayne Sheriff

Detroit, Sept. 5—(AP)—Mrs. Margaret Stein's campaign for the Republican nomination for the unexpired term of the Wayne county sheriff may come to nothing as the result of an informal decision announced by Robert M. Toms, prosecuting attorney, today.

According to Mr. Toms, there is no provision in the 1927 revision of the election law for the election of a sheriff to fill an unexpired term. It was added that should Mrs. Stein succeed in having her name put on the November ballot and be victorious over her Democratic opponent, Sheriff Ira Wilson would be able to refuse to turn over the office to her.

The 1927 law provides that in case of an unexpired term, the undersheriff shall assume the duties of the sheriff for the remainder of the period.

Mrs. Stein, widow of Sheriff Edward Stein, received the most votes in Tuesday's primary. She was running on a platform of vindication of her husband, many of whose appointees had been dismissed by Ira Wilson, who succeeded to the office after the death of Sheriff Stein.

Mrs. Stein said she would "fight to the end" and would seek legal advice on the matter.

Body of Slain Girl Identified; Killer Goes on Trial Today

Los Angeles, Sept. 5—(AP)—On the eve of his appearance in court for preliminary hearing tomorrow, Russell Beitzel, accused of the murder of Barbara Mauger, his common law wife, was faced today with the positive identification of the body of the girl found in a lonely mountain canyon near here sometime ago.

Mr. and Mrs. Henry L. Mauger, of Philadelphia, stated tonight after viewing the torn remains that they were convinced that the body was that of their daughter.

Scientist Says Body Has Soul

Glasgow, Sept. 5—(AP)—Sir William Bragg, making his first address as president of the British Association for Advancement of Science tonight, flatly told his distinguished audience that man has a soul. His incisive declaration of the address made to the body last year by its then president, Sir Arthur Keith, who rejected the idea of an after-life.

Standing before 3,000 scientists assembled in St. Andrews' hall, Sir William shook his finger at his hearers and tossed the iron grey hair fringing his bald head as he declared "Science is not setting forth to destroy the soul, but to keep body and soul together."

No Pay for Baptist Missionaries; Funds Taken by Secretary

Atlanta, Sept. 5—(AP)—Finances of the Southern Baptist Home Mission Board have been so depleted by the approximately $1,000,000 shortage revealed in the accounts of its missing treasurer, Clinton S. Carnes, that salaries of missionaries and workers now due cannot be paid until the board's pro-rata of funds has been collected from churches in the district, a joint committee of the board and convention executive committee said in a statement tonight.

In its statement the committee for the first time took official cognizance of published reports that Carnes resembled a man who had served two prison terms under a similar name by asserting that "after his disappearance." This, it was pointed out, was before he became treasurer and "all of which was unknown to the Board and to the bonding company that had bonded him in the sum of $50,000."

Raskob Stresses Farm Relief and Dry Law Issues

New York, Sept. 5—(AP)—Prohibition and farm relief—and not the religious question, no matter how much talk there may be about it—are the two big issues in the presidential campaign, John J. Raskob, Democratic national chairman, declared at national headquarters here today.

"I dislike to recognize as a fact that the American people are making religion the issue of this campaign," he said. "I don't believe they are. I think the so-called religious issue is being greatly exaggerated, largely on account of the publicity it has received.

"I think the efforts of those engaged in a vicious campaign of religious bigotry will have ceased to be effective long before election day. It is difficult to conceive of the American people being influenced by propaganda tending toward spreading religious hatred—hatred of any kind, particularly religious hatred.

"I do not believe that the religious question is the big issue of this campaign. The real issues are prohibition and farm relief—prohibition in the east, farm relief in the west."

SMITH BUSY ON STATE AFFAIRS

Governor Turns From Campaign to Regular Work

BY PAUL F. HAUBERT
(Associated Press Staff)

Albany, N. Y., Sept. 5—(AP)—To the casual observer there was little about Governor Smith today that would have stamped him the presidential nominee of the Democrats. His mind was on state affairs, almost to the complete exclusion of national politics and as he put in a hitch at the capitol, clearing away his desk of accumulated business, he gave no outward sign of corncern over his candidacy.

About the only political touch given the nominee's day was a visit paid him by William Mitchell—former assistant chief of the Army Air Service who several years ago stirred up a ruckus by his outspoken criticism of the nation's fighting machine, particularly as applied to aviation, and brought down on his own head a courtmartial.

Mitchell is the son of a former Democratic senator from Wisconsin, and he called on Governor Smith to pay his respects.

Plans Still Unknown

For a brief period during the day, Governor Smith also put to one side his work for a press conference, but he had little to offer in the way of news, and declined to be drawn out for publication on any political subject. He still was keeping to himself his speech-making itinerary plans, and had no comment on the announced intention of Herbert Hoover to make campaign speeches in both Newark, N. J., and New York City.

Although the governor is expected to show his hand, at least partly, before the end of the week with an announcement as to where and when he will open up with his campaign, he is keeping his own counsel as to his plans. He is in constant touch by telephone with his managers in New York and is receiving reports, directly or indirectly from lieutenants in al sections of the country, but he is abstaining almost entirely from political conferences that usually make up the daily routine of a presidential nominee.

Queen's Room in Blaze.

"Queen Victoria's Room" at the Ramsay Arms Hotel, Fettercairn, Scotland, was recently damaged by fire. The room is famous because Queen Victoria and the Prince Consort in 1861 spent a night there, while en route from Balmoral to Glenesk, where the Queen's Well stands, and were traveling by coach and ponies. To commemorate the visit a stone arch, flanked by battlemented towers was erected, and has become an outstanding landmark in the district. Fully $1,000 damage was done to the room.

Defense Witnesses Are Dismissed in Trial of Mellus

Los Angeles, Sept. 4—(AP)—Sixteen defense witnesses in the murder trial of Leo (Pat) Kelley, "butcher boy," lover of Mrs. Myrtle Mellus, slain society woman, were excused by the court at today's session.

The motion to dismiss the witnesses was made by Atty. S. S. Hahn, as the defense legal staff prepared to meet the announced program of the state to confront Kelley with his own purported admission that he beat Mrs. Mellus "terribly" on the afternoon of her death.

Among witnesses excused was A. C. Jamison, neighbor and friend of Frank Mellus, wealthy husband of the club woman and the first person Mellus called to aid him when he found his wife's body. Adele Weaver, negro, former maid at the Mellus home, and several women customers of Kelley's meat market from which the Mellus home was served, also were dismissed.

Hahn offered no reason for asking that the witnesses be dismissed.

Police detectives who arrested Kelley declared previously that he "confessed" to them that he beat the society woman over the head.

THE PRIMARY.

THE PRIMARY ELECTION is over. The votes have been counted and the result determined. The Press extends its heartiest congratulations all down the line, through the entire state and county tickets, to the winners of the various contests and to the losers.

We think it is highly beneficial, to all concerned, that such contests are held at regular intervals. They constitute a sort of inventory or stock-taking without which no business can succeed. They awaken the interest of the people in governmental affairs, and they serve to carry home the details of the conduct of public offices as nothing else could.

The man who wins a spirited election contest has his reward in the satisfaction arising from his success. The loser, however, also merits the thanks of all the people. He is a part of a system of education which keeps men and women of the country mentally alert and well-advised concerning their government. The loser's reward is small, perhaps, but he plays a most necessary and a most useful role in the general scheme of things.

When people lose interest in elections—when they no longer care who represents them in the public offices—democracy is in serious peril. We think that Tuesday's primary demonstrated that the people of Delta county are maintaining a most lively interest. Such demonstrations are the foundation stones of good government.

That's why congratulations to all who participated—those who won and those who lost—are in order.

Hay fever victims, sojourning in Sault Ste. Marie, have launched a national association which, we should opine, will not be a group at whose influence one safely can sneeze.

A GOOD PLACE TO LIVE?

WHAT ARE the things that make a town or a city a good place to live?

They vary for different people, of course. To some men, New York is the only city in which life is endurable; to others, it is the last place on earth to be chosen. Some men cling to the small town; others cannot stand such a place for more than a week.

Nearly every place is a better place to live than its surface appearance indicates. We have all seen towns that seem utterly drab, flat and uninteresting; yet in each of them there can be found plenty of people who are quite satisfied with their surroundings. To get used to a place is, nearly always, to find unsuspected points in its favor.

But when one travels across any section of the country, by train or by auto, one finds certain places that stand out in memory as desirable localities. Every traveler knows the experience of coming unexpectedly into a town that seems to breathe attractiveness in every street and building. Beauty of location, charm of atmosphere, tastefulness of construction—certain qualities seem to combine, every now and then, to give a city distinction and grace.

The traveler remembers these places and wants to revisit them. He pays them the silent tribute of saying, to himself, "Here's a place I'd rather like to live, some day." And the inhabitants of such towns are more lucky than most of us. Their surroundings help to give peace and contentment.

Every man has his own list, of course, and doubtless no two lists are alike. But one of the chief advantages of summer vacation touring is that it thrusts one, every now and then, into some such place. Hour after hour one drives along through country that is not particularly noteworthy; and then, just as one begins to get a bit tired of it, the road swings around a bend, down a hill—and one is in the middle of a place that will remain in the memory ever after.

Those are the bright spots of the vacation tour. They help to give a significance to all the rest of one's life. The man who has the memory of such spots tucked safely away has, always, places of refuge. He may never revisit them; but they will be there, in the mind's eye, nevertheless, waiting for him, persuading him that his fellow men can, now and then, build really delightful towns amid really delightful surroundings.

A world war veteran in Neenah, has just received a package of tobacco and candy mailed to him while he was in France in 1918. Yes, Uncle Sam always gets his man.

UNCLE SAM, PHILATELIST.

IN 1921, the government established an agency in the postoffice department for stamp collectors. Since then that service has grown to amazing proportions, so that Uncle Sam suddenly finds himself one of the big philatelic dealers.

This special agency acts as a connecting link between stamp collectors and the federal postoffices. It distributes special issues of stamps. It accepts and fills orders for "first day covers," which means envelopes bearing cancelled stamps and marks showing they were mailed on the first day those particular stamps were available. The first day covers for new mail routes are especially popular just now. There were 200,000 of them when Lindbergh, for one day, flew the mail on his old route between St. Louis and Chicago. There were 7,000 orders for such envelopes and stamps when there was a recent new air mail issue.

Stamp collecting is a hobby which none but collectors themselves readily understand. To unsympathetic outsiders this opportunity to obtain the coveted bits of paper so easily through a government agency would seem slightly to dim the zest of the quest. To the initiates, however, this service seems to be a tremendous boon.—Green Bay Press Gazette.

MAKES LITTLE DIFFERENCE.

BY A VOTE of four to three the national executive committee of the Prohibition party decided to withdraw their candidate for president, but not to take any stand as between Hoover and Smith. One of the members, in explanation, said: "The position of the majority was that this election is not a contest over the prohibition question, but a fake contest between the modification program of Governor Al Smith on the one side and continued nullification by the Republican party on the other."

The decision not to support Hoover is of no more significance than would have been a decision to endorse him. The Prohibition party in its keyday was of inconsequential dimensions. The past decade it has become entirely negligible. It is difficult to visualize its formal support of Mr. Hoover throwing the balance in his favor in any doubtful state. It is difficult to visualize denial of such support as a decisive influence anywhere.

Discussion of what the party might do has received attention all out of proportion to its importance.—Iron Mountain News.

In a burst of rationalism, Sir Henry Etaoin-Shrdlu, the Baltic chipmunk tamer, declared that a bang-tailed race horse with a broken pelvic arch was of more valuable to humanity than a dogfish with the hives. He forgot, however, that four million of the flowers of the Rhine could not capture Verdun. The coal bill must be paid, and to pay it we must build airplanes, not battleships. TWO NO-TRUMP DOUBLED

Enterprising showmen, for two generations, have been discovering and exploiting what the circus and dime museum worlds call "Siamese Twins." Our circus men are backed by the most powerful financial forces the world has ever known. They should not forget that the public looks to them for new pleasures. Let them go forth and find a specimen of Siamese triplets. That would be real progress.

OZOSTOMIA

George Herman Ruth can hit a baseball harder than any human being. But the owners of baseball clubs are still permitting him to waste those powerful muscles of his when they know that machinery could be devised to do even a better job. They have not yet learned the lesson of modern machine-age efficiency. One of these days a batting machine will be knocking the ball as far as ten batsmen. Such progress is inevitable. With other industries speeding ahead, baseball can not stand still.

CHARGEABILITY

History records that Queen Minnie of Mudarkia insisted on drinking her wine out of a tulip cup. A beautiful custom. It should be perpetuated. But, due to civilization's rapid expansion, a tulip would no longer be adequate. The modern queen would drink her moonshine out of a tiger lily. We have gone far since the days of good Queen Min.

THEY PLAY FAIR

A man who used to be an office boy and is now an executive with a highly paid job was asked not long ago if employers play fair. His answer was that employers do play fair. He gave his own experience as an example. Others—thousands of them—could give the same testimony. There are, of course, some employers who are small-mined and small-souled, but they are not big employers, for men of that type do not get far or last long. The average employer is willing to give an employe every chance if the latter will give service and loyalty to the limit of his capacity. And every employer who pays well has a right to expect service and loyalty to the limit of capacity.

Men and women who do not think employers play fair are usually those of limited ability and unlimited laziness.

They are successful business men and they have come to a wise conclusion. Some folks read magazines and some read books. A few will even read free circulars distributed at the front door. But almost EVERYBODY reads the newspapers. Even bad newspapers are read more than good magazines or good books. And newspapers with improved facilities, spending more money on their news and editorial departments, are getting better all the time.

FARMS AND MILLS

Will American farms of the future be run like factories? A North Dakota university professor—J. M. Gillette—says farms of the future will be populated only as great industrial plants are populated—by workmen going back from their toil at night to their homes in town. Managers, foremen and hired men, would produce crops as a factory operates. The old family on the farm would disappear.

Perhaps this would mean a new sort of efficiency but most of us, remembering boyhood on the farm or the happy days at grandfather's in the summer time, will be glad that we were not born too late for the old-fashioned farm.

It begins to look as though modern industrial civilization is at war with sentiment.

CHAPTER XVII

Lynda was very proud because she was able to keep all feeling, all interest from her face as she typed his letters to the father of his insane wife. When it was finished, she addressed the envelope and passed it over without a word.

Armitage read it and affixed his signature, clipped the copies together, and put them away in a locked box in a safe near his desk that was marked with his name. After this, he got up slowly and went over and sat down by a window for a long time. His face was a mirror of sadness and indignation, almost hopeless, and he seemed to be thinking of something far remote from his business. With incoherent exclamation he, at last, sprang to his feet and came again and stood by Lynda's desk.

"Please, Miss Fenton," said Ralph Armitage, "use my personal note paper for these letters," as if these were the first letters he had dictated that morning. He had evidently put out of his mind the one to his father-in-law.

For another hour Lynda was put through a test. Armitage spoke rapidly and sometimes rather indistinctly, as he answered notes of invitation from society friends, sent checks to tradesmen and others who wanted him to subscribe to different charities, not one of whom he refused.

"There, tank God, that's my last social duty for today," he exclaimed, as he signed a letter to June Challer, saying he was not sure he would be able to attend her party.

"If you will just let me drop in, if I'm in the city, I will hope charmed to come," it read.

Lynda looked up just in time to catch that most enchanting smile.

"That lets me out," he exclaimed, "if I find something I want to do more. Did you know, know Miss Fenton, I've been blessing my stars most of this weary and hopeless day that you do not use lipstick, for I've been able to tell immediately what you've been thinking because of it. Your mouth has settled into disapproval, has relaxed in pity, has crinkled into smiles, and compressed itself into concentration, as you have typed these letters; something that it never could have done, if it had the scarlet cupid's bow painted upon it that most young women consider necessary to their beauty."

Lynda said nothing, as she slid another piece of paper into the machine. Then raised her eyes expectantly to Ralph Armitage's face.

"Do you know," he said, softly, "you are either very clever or awfully good, Miss Fenton."

"Cannot one be both, Mr. Armitage?"

"Perhaps but I have failed to find that combination in my young life."

Lynda bent her head farther over her machine and smiled. She did not think that cynical speech needed an answer.

"Miss Fenton."

The tones with which Ralph Armitage spoke made her name curt. In consternation she turned her head.

"Yes, Mr. Armitage." Again that smile.

"I just wanted to prove to myself that I really was not mistaken—that I have not just dreamed of the combination. You see, when you're looking at me it doesn't seem possible that, with your warm, creamy skin, and that shining black hair, your eyes are blue—blue and sometimes as sparkling as the Mediterranean sea, and sometimes as dewy wet as the violets in the rain."

Lynda had begun to type another letter, and her machine began to click before he had scarcely finished his rhapsody.

"I don't believe you heard me at all," said Ralph Armitage, peevishly. "I'm going to luncheon. You can reach me at the club."

For a little while after he had left, Lynda sat quietly, with her hands resting in her lap. Was every man a poet when talking love? David talked of the moon, and Mr. Armitage softly spoke of violets drenched in the rain! David seemed ashamed, but Ralph Armitage was impatient because she didn't respond.

When the "young boss" returned, he found the rest of the letters he had dictated that morning neatly piled on his desk, and Lynda at work on the filing cases. He was very businesslike as he gave her some more letters pertaining to the firm. Lynda could not make herself believe that a few hours ago he had likened her eyes to the Mediterranean. After he had finished his dictation, he said:

"I'll be here until these are finished, and I'll sign them. Has anyone called?"

"Yes, Mr. Armitage. I made a note of the calls. You'll find it in one of the baskets. Miss Calla said she always put them there."

He looked over the calls without comment.

"If anyone else rings me up, just say that I have gone out for the day:"

"Good-night, Miss Fenton. On second thought, I'll sign the letters in the morning."

In a moment, however, he was back.

"When you go home tonight, stop at the desk and tell Sterling to pay for your work up to today. From now on, you will get one hundred and fifty dollars a month to be paid on the first and fifteenth."

"Thank you, Mr. Armitage." Lynda tried to very businesslike, but for the life of her could not keep her eyes from lighting up. It seemed as though she had become suddenly rich.

"Now, they're like the Mediterranean when the sun shines on it," said Ralph, unexpectedly, as he turned the knob of the door. Then he was gone.

IRELAND'S GOVERNMENT PROBLEMS DISCUSSED.

By WILLIAM T. COSGRAVE
President of the Free State of Ireland.

I have witnessed the example of the German Socialists in 1919, the British Labor Party in 1924, and even the Bolshevists in Soviet Russia, and have applied the lesson to the extremists of Ireland.

WM T COSGRAVE

When I just took up my post I was in the position of a father with a flock of unruly brats. Stern measures had to be taken, but no sterner than those used against us. If I had not been stern it would have been my greatest mistake at the time.

The greatest thing that ever happened to this country was the entry of the Republicans into the Dail.

Our opponents used to think every wheel in the legislative machine was created for grinding them to bits. Every time we passed any representative measures of one kind or another we were accused of being tyrants and dictators. And every time we had to explain that such measures were for the whole country's good and not for the punishment of one man.

Then they put forward the most nonsensical economic theories. When they first entered the Dail they were still under the impression that you had simply to wave a wand and factories would grow up as if by magic. The longer they serve in the Dail the more they will see the necessity for a sound groundwork, if the Free State is to develop any industries.

Another trouble we must contend with is the windy oratory surviving from days of "the trouble." The orators seldom deal with actual, concrete problems. They are swept away by floods of sentiment or emotion. Once you get them in the Dail they will soon "sober up." They settle down to the business of the country, and serious discussion takes the place of Rhetoric.

PICKUP LUNCH.

Bits of cold meat, an egg or two,
For almost anything will do
For pickup lunch. A last night's salad,
Looking a little pale and pallid,
Some crumbling remnants of a cake,
Or pie that someone wouldn't take,
That's pickup lunch—just things left over
Too poor to serve, too good for Rover.

You say, no matter how they taste,
You just can't let things go to waste,
And find cold pork is more delicious,
A day like this, than hotter dishes.
The things you eat because you ought
You find are better than you thought.
Yes, many a virtue is detected
Because no virtues you expected.

Now, all good cooks philosophize,
And this they learn, for cooks are wise:
That discontent is just a matter
Of wanting chicken on life's platter.
We don't like this or that or such
Because we all expect too much.
If anything would quite content us,
We'd be surprised at what God sent us.

ODE TO PETERSIZING

I feared that I was getting stout,
So on the street, one day,
I dropped a penny in the slot
And gave myself a weigh.

The figure there exposed to view
Proved a very sad surprise;
But when my eyes fell on those scales,
The scales fell from my eyes.

In order to reduce my weight
I purchased me a wheel;
Before I'd ridden it a week,
I fell off a good deal.

But in spite of Newton's famous law
And all his just renown,
I found my weight still grew so great,
I could not keep it down.

But now I carol all the day:
I'm down to normal size.
I'm a healthy, happy handsome guy:
I've learned to Petersize!"

—A. L. G.

• • •

To the new readers, I'll explain that Petersizing is a term my followers coined, meaning sizing to normal by counting calories. To show you that it works both ways, I'll give another contribution. And for those who are interested in Petersizing, I'll explain that our pamphlet on the subject gives specific directions, the foundation diet, and sufficient list of foods and their caloric values to tide you over until you can get a textbook on the subject.

I am glad to run these contributions for I know they will be instrumental in converting a great many.

"Dear Doctor Lulu: I wish I had my picture taken before and after following your advice. A year ago I weighed 95 pounds. Was anemic, had stomach trouble and constipation and thought the less I ate the better I ought to feel.

"Counting the calories I was consuming, I found I was having about one-half the right number. Increasing them gradually, as you suggest, until I was getting 500 to 1000 more than my maintenance, I gained 20 pounds, so now weigh 115 and I feel fine all the time. I used to be a slave to pills, but no more. I don't even give the children castor oil any more, as I find it is not necessary when on the balanced diet. We escaped severe colds, tonsilitis, etc., that we had been subject to.

"This reads like a patent medicine testimonial, but I mean it. Dr. Peters' favorite prescriptions are not draining on the pocketbook, are delightful to take, and they produce results! Just eat and grow fat, and take the abdominal exercises to keep the fat from settling on the tummy.

Athletics Do Benefit Weak-minded Persons

Stockholm—Training mentally deficient children in sports and athletics tends to brighten their minds and give them a more wholesome and normal outlook on life, it has been announced at the institution for weak-minded boys at Salbohed, Sweden.

By encouraging the boys to play football and to compete in running and jumping the head instructor said he found a practical and efficient remedy. Whereas the boys had been clumsy, slow and careless in the beginning, they gradually became alert, nimble-footed and appreciably keener.

Find Women Well Fitted for Flying

London—Flying as a sport is appealing more and more to English women and they are eagerly seeking tuition at the various airplane clubs throughout the kingdom.

Among the latest to obtain their pilots' certificates and their own planes are Mrs. Simon Fraser and Miss Harriet Cholmondeley.

Instructors say that women are exceptionally keen and quick pupils and grasp the rules governing the movement and control of flying machines with ready intelligence. At the same time they are duly cautious.

Once they have learned to control an aircraft their quickness of movement and lightness of touch are said to be of great value to them as the handling of an airplane is not a question of strength, but of deftness in making small, swift, accurate movements. Nature has given women such good "hands," the instructors say, that they start well equipped for rapidly becoming good flyers.

PUBLIC SCHOOLS ENROLL 2,566

This Fall's Registration Largest Since 1924-25 School Year

The total enrollment in the Escanaba public schools yesterday totaled 2566 students, 16 more than the number enrolled on the second day of school last year, according to figures given out by R. E. Cheney, superintendent.

This year's enrollment is made up of 1959 pupils in the grades and 607 in the high school department. Attendance figures compiled for the last six years showed that this year's enrollment is the largest since the 1924-25 school year when it was 2669.

Some Rooms Crowded.

Owing to the overcrowded conditions in some of the grade rooms, Supt. Cheney said yesterday, it may be necessary to transfer some of the pupils to other buildings. He emphasized, however, that no transfers are to be made unless such a step is absolutely necessary.

Thirty children of the first, third and fifth grades are attending the demonstration classes of the Delta County Normal school in the Webster Annex where 25 persons are taking training to become teachers in the rural schools. Miss Mary Teusink is the principal of the normal, and Miss Florence Flach, the critic, is in charge of the training room.

The figures for the first day enrollment during the last six years and the comparison of the second day enrollment of this and last year are as follows:

SNAPSHOTS TO BE COLLECTED

Chamber of Commerce Wants Pictures of Scenes Near City

Snapshots of wild-life, attractive landscapes, spots which have historical interest or a connection with Indian legend and lore, and other pictures which could be used, effectively in a new tourist folder to be prepared by the Escanaba Chamber of Commerce, are wanted by the Chamber immediately, and an appeal is being sent out to amateur photographers for help.

"I am sure that, in the snapshot albums and collections of this city must be hundreds of pictures of the type we need," Harold P. Lindsay, secretary of the chamber, said yesterday. "We hope the owners will give us a chance to use them."

Every person who submits a picture, accepted for use in the book, will receive an enlargement of the entry, it was announced. Consequently both negatives and prints should be submitted, if possible. These should be labeled with the name of the owner. They will be returned.

Pictures of deer, partridge, ducks and other game are greatly desired. Catches of fish and bags of game, also are suggested. The list also includes Indian pictures, beautiful trails and streams and other landscapes, winter scenes and sports, golf courses, fair buildings and exhibits, homes, streets, playgrounds, parks, farms and farm homes and products, commercial establishments, industrial plants and public buildings.

Committee Named.

R. E. Selkirk, is chairman of the committee in charge of the contest. Other members are F. Baldwin, Victor Anderson, N. Carr, C. B. Farrell, J. P. Oberlin, C. L. Riley, L. A. Stade, W. G. Sullivan and W. F. Wickert.

George Peterson Takes Over Store, Shop of Company

George Peterson has purchased the interest of Charles Primeau in the Escanaba shop and retail furniture store of the Escanaba Specialty Company, it was announced here yesterday. Mr. Peterson will continue to build "custommade" furniture and to carry on general furniture repair, refurnishing and upholstering work.

The company's shop at Marinette will continue to be operated under Mr. Primeau's direction, it is understood.

The Escanaba Specialty Company was launched, three years ago, by Peterson and Primeau, in a barn in the south-west side of the city. The boys soon moved to larger quarters and installed considerable machinery and equipment. Later a shop was opened in Marinette, and a retail establishment, for the display and sale of furniture, manufactured by the firm, was established at 605 Ludington street.

The sale this week makes Mr. Peterson sole owner of the Escanaba end of the business, it was announced.

MAURICE COLL FATALLY HURT

Skull Is Fractured When He Falls Off Ladder at Home

Maurice Coll, 65, a resident of Escanaba for 40 years, died at a local hospital yesterday noon as a result of injuries received when he fell from a ladder at his home, 201 North Eleventh street, about 9:30 o'clock in the morning.

Mr. Coll was climbing up a ladder at the rear of his home with some boards with which to repair the roof. When he was about eight feet from the ground, the ladder slid off sideways from the edge of the roof, throwing him down on the concrete sidewalk. He sustained a fracture of the skull and some internal injuries.

Mr. Coll was born at Arremore, County Donegan, Ireland, and came to this city forty years ago. He conducted a place of business at 201 North Eleventh street and during the past twelve years was employed by the C. & N. W. Ry. at the ore docks.

He is survived by one brother, Owen Coll, and one sister, Mrs. Bridget Bonner, who resides at Arremore, Ireland, one niece, Mrs. Grace Mulvaney, who kept house for him here, and several nieces and nephews in Chicago. Several cousins in this city also survive.

Mr. Coll was a devout member of St. Patrick's church. He worked about the house doing some repairing for about two hours when the accident occurred.

The body was prepared for burial at the Allo Funeral Home and will be removed to his home this afternoon at one o'clock where it will remain until Saturday morning at nine o'clock when a requiem high mass will be offered at St. Patrick's church.

Mr. Coll was a member of the Ancient Order of Hibernians, local Council No. 640, Knights of Columbus, and the Holy Name society. Members of all three orders will assemble at the home Friday evening at eight o'clock to recite the rosary.

Burial will be in his lot in St. Joseph's cemetery.

Autobuses Too Reckless.

Officials of Cannes, France, are receiving complaints that autobus drivers are too reckless and are endangering lives. The complaint is that they dash along the Boulevard Carnot without regard to speed limits, drive on any side of the road and stop to receive or unload passengers in the center of the highway. Protests are also being made that the city officials pay no attention to complaints, and probably will not until after an accident.

SOCIAL

Kemp-Sabourin.

Stealing a march on their friends, Miss Grace Kemp, youngest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George Kemp, 1315 Second avenue south, and Rene Sabourin of this city, son of Mr. and Mrs. Peter Sabourin of Schaffer, were quietly married at St. Joseph's rectory Wednesday morning at 10 o'clock. Rev. Fr. Bonaventure Kilfoyle performed the ceremony.

The attendants were Miss Lorraine Kemp, sister of the bride, and Arthur Murphy of Gladstone, a close friend of the bridegroom.

Members of the bridal party motored to Jay's Tea Room where breakfast was served, after which Mr. and Mrs. Sabourin left by motor for a trip to points in Wisconsin.

Mrs. Sabourin has been employed at the office of Dr. W. A. Lemire and Mr. Sabourin is employed in the pressroom of the Daily Press.

Murray-Oslund.

Miss Mabel Marie Murray, eldest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Albert Murray, 410 So. 11th street and Melvin Robert Oslund, son of Mr. and Mrs. Emil Oslund, 1202 No. 22nd St. were united in the holy bonds of matrimony by Rev. Fr. Florient O. F. M. at the rectory of St. Joseph's church Wednesday morning at 10:30 o'clock.

Miss Evelyn Murray and Albert Murray Jr., brother and sister of the bride were the attendants.

The bride's gown was of yellow georgette over pink satin. Her skirt was made with a number of ruffles and a large flower adorned the left side. The bridal bouquet was of Ophelia roses and baby breath. Miss Evelyn Murray wore a gown of yellow georgette and carried tea roses and baby breath, arranged as an arm bouquet.

A dinner was served at the home of the bride's parents at one o'clock when fifteen guests, including members of the two families, were served.

Kelly-Villemure.

The marriage of Miss Phylis Kelly, youngest daughter of Mrs. Phil Kelly, 305 South Thirteenth street, to Albert (Lou) Villemure was solemnized Wednesday morning at 7:30 o'clock at St. Patrick's church with Rev. Fr. John Mockler as celebrant at the nuptial high mass. Fr. Mockler performed the marriage ceremony, during which Mrs. William Shepeck sang "O Promise Me." Lohengrin's wedding march was played by Mrs. William Ramspeck, organist, with violin obligato by Ulrich Zachaty. During the mass, Mrs. John Kress sang Roswig's "Ave Marie" and Mendelssohn's wedding march was rendered as the party left the church.

The bride's gown was of independence blue chiffon velvet, with hat of same shade; slippers and hose of light fawn color completed the attractive ensemble. The maid of honor, Miss Irene Villemure, wore a gown of cafe brown satin-faced crepe, with slippers and hose of corresponding shade. The bridal bouquet in shower fashion was of LaFrance roses, baby breath and smilax. Miss Villemure carried a bouquet of Burbank roses, baby breath and smilax.

The bride was given away by her uncle, Mel Main, and Fenton Kelly was Mr. Villemure's attendant.

After the ceremony at the church, the bridal party and members of the immediate families and Very Rev. Fr. R. G. Jacques motored to Jay's Tea Room where a breakfast was served. Table decorations in soft shades, tall wax tapers and favors were unusually well arranged.

Mr. and Mrs. Villemure left by motor for Mackinaw Island where they will spend several days. They will be at home at 305½ South Thirteenth street after September 20.

Mr. Villemure and his bride are very popular in this city, as both were born and reared here and attended local schools, the bride being a graduate of Escanaba high school and has taught in the public school at Chatham for some time.

Mr. Villemure is one of this city's enterprising young business men and conducts a filling station at Fourteenth and Ludington streets since his place of business burned out several months ago.

OBITUARY

MRS. ANNA JOHNSON.

Funeral services for Mrs. Anna M. Johnson of Stonington, were held Wednesday afternoon at one-thirty o'clock at the Swedish Lutheran church at Stonington, with Rev. K. Knudsen, pastor of the Norwegian Lutheran church of this city officiating.

A cordial welcome for all in the "little churches with the big welcome."

The meanest man has made a visit to town again. It is the man who has an accumulation of cats. He is too kind-hearted to kill them himself. Too soft hearted to see the defenseless little things struggle against his attempts to drown them. Too stingy to buy a little chloroform for the job. He places them carefully and quietly, under the darkness of night, near the door of some residence, preferably the preacher's where he feels sure that the little felines will not be abused. The Lord will reward him according to his deeds, and in the meantime, anyone who wishes to adopt half a dozen cute little kitties may do so by making application to the writer.

Mrs. Finley McCashum of Puffy Creek reports that one of her Rhode Island Red hens possesses the maternal instinct in an unusual degree. Biddy, like others of her kind, started to set. In a few days, however, she decided to leave the nest for a little while and take a stroll around the old haunts. During her absence, the family cat appropriated the nest and deposited a family of little kittens therein. She, too, left the nest. When the hen returned, she was delighted beyond measure, possibly a little surprised to find the nest occupied. She adopted them in true motherly fashion and showed evident pride in her adopted babies. In a little while the mother cat returned and was very much distressed to find the nest occupied by its rightful possessor. Her efforts availed nothing to remove the hen. Soon her cries attracted the attention of Mrs. McCashum who hurried to ascertain what the quarrel was over. She decided the case in favor of the cat, took the hen and placed it in captivity and allowed the cat to take possession of her rightful offspring. In a few days, she allowed the hen its liberty but it returned to the nest and renewed the fight and as a result of such behavior, she has since been confined to the "coop" for an indefinite period.

It was quickly brought to a standstill and an investigation was made. No one was badly hurt. A fender of the car was bent as was the front axle. One of the hind tires was punctured. The calf was so badly injured that it was deemed wise for the owner to kill it. The accident happened a few yards south of the Rufus Spaulding farm and the calf was owned by Mr. Spaulding. Texas Wives Will Divorce Men Who Back Al, Claim

Washington, Sept. 4—(AP)—There was dire news for Texas husbands at the Republican national headquarters today. Mrs. J. C. Griswold, national committeewoman for Texas, reported that many Texas men had told her their wives would divorce them if they voted for Gov. Smith, the Democratic presidential nominee.

"There's great hope for Texas to go over for Hoover," she told Mrs. Alvin T. Hert, Republican national vice-chairman; "thanks, to the fine Democratic women who value the welfare of their state and nation above party."

"You don't know how peppy our women are," Mrs. Griswold declared. "Our men have worn the brass collars of the Democratic party for a long time. But the women, thank fortune, have worn low-necked dresses and they aren't afraid. At any rate the men won't vote much for Smith. There's many a one who has told me his wife would divorce him if he did."

Hoover, she said, had a large "silent vote" in Texas. The Republican nominee's real strength in the state, she added, lay among the Democrats "who feel prohibition is the only issue and who distrust Gov. Smith because they consider he repudiated a plank in the party's platform."

SQUAD OUT FOR FIRST PRACTICE

Promising Material in Newcomers; Letter Men Back

Twenty-three men, letter men and new-comers, were out for the first football practice called by Coach Eldon Keil Tuesday afternoon.

Ten more men will be out today or Friday, bringing the practice squad up to well over thirty.

The squad looks pretty good, Coach Keil said yesterday. There are a number of letter men back and most of the material looks husky.

Graduation took nearly the entire backfield, and two ends, the team losing Kircher, full back, Hoffman, half back, Reese, quarterback and Moore and Switzer, ends, and Coach Keil faces the big task of building up the backfield and filling the two end positions.

Providing these weak spots can be strengthened with capable material, Gladstone's prospects for another successful season are of the best.

At Crystal Falls

The first game is scheduled for September 29, at Crystal Falls, giving the Gladstone mentor a good amount of time to break in the new material.

THEATRES

AT THE RIALTO

Did you ever play poker?

And did you ever have a woman stand behind your chair and ask questions—out loud—about your hand?

And were you ever three or four stacks behind and wondering how you'd ever catch up and then get one of those marvelous hands that come once in a lifetime.

If so, put on your hat and coat and hurry down to the Rialto theater, where Richard Dix's new Paramount picture, "Sporting Goods," opened yesterday for a 2 day run.

It has in it one of the funniest poker sequences ever screened. It wouldn't be fair to the Rialto management to reveal the details of the hands by which Dix wins. It is enough to say that it will be a hilariously funny picture for every man, women or child, who knows the difference between a pair of deuces and a straight-flush.

But poker isn't all that's in "Sporting Goods." It is just a very funny part of a very funny picture, in which Dix plays a golf suit salesman who is mistaken for a multi-millionaire and is forced to make good to win a girl he loves. He has some terrible obstacles—terrible to him but extremely comic to the audience—to overcome, including a trying situation on a beautiful California golf links, but he finally emerges on top.

Gertrude Olmsted plays the girl, and the rest of the supporting cast boasts such names as Ford Sterling, Myrtle Stedman, Philip Strange, Maude Turner Gordon, Claude King and Wade Boteler. The picture, one of the funniest in which Dix has ever played, was directed by Malcolm St. Clair, director of "Gentlemen Prefer Blondes."

Returns From a Trip to Coast

Concluding an 8,000 mile motor trip, Rev. B. J. B. Schevers of St. Francis de Sales church, Manistique, returned this week from his vacation.

Father Schevers visited California, the Rockies, Oregon, Washington, other states, and points in Canada.

Total stock sales today 4,426,500 shares.

BY STANLEY W. PRENOSIL
Associated Press Financial Editor

New York, Sept. 5—(AP)—The stock market today successfully absorbed the heavy selling inspired by the large increase in stock exchange member loans and started on a new bull rampage under the leadership of the oils and the public utilities. Extreme gains in the active issues ranged from 2 to nearly 10 points, with at least two score individual stocks selling at new high records for the year.

So great was the volume of trading that the ticker was 38 minutes late in recording the final quotations. The day's sales aggregated 4,426,500 shares, the highest since June 12.

The market opened irregular in reflection of the speculative uneasiness created by the increase of $214,000,000 in Brokers' Loans. In the absence of any extensive forced liquidation, pools quickly resumed their campaign for higher prices. Speculative attention centered at first in the amusement shares, several of which were pushed to new high ground, but when a bad break took place in the Warner Bros. issues the chief buying operations switched to the public utilities and motors and finally to the oils.

Call money held steady at 7½ per cent. All day, although the banks called more than $15,000,000 in loans. With the September 1 dividend and interest payments and the Labor Day currency demands out of the way, easier call money rates, at least temporarily, are looked for in banking quarters.

Interest in Oils

A series of favorable dividend announcements helped to create bullish enthusiasm in today's market. These included an advance of a special meeting of directors of the Standard Commercial Tobacco Company to consider the declaration of a stock dividend, and the declaration of extra dividends on Lambert, Devoe & Raynolds, Goodyear of Canada and David Pender Grocery Stores. Other bullish factors were the publication of weekly trade reviews, last month, and a number of excellent industrial company earnings statements.

Revival of activity and strength in the oil shares attracted widespread interest, as the oils are the only major group that has failed to participate extensively in the "bull" markets of the last four years, due to the unhealthy trade situation created by the over-production of crude oil. Texas Corporation was the leader, setting a new high for the present issue at $70 a share and then easing to 69, up 4½ points net. Barnsdall A touched a new top at 31 7-8 in anticipation of a resumption of cash dividends next month. Tidewater Associated, California Petroleum and Sun Oil reached new high grounds.

Warner Bros. Unsteady

Radio returned to its old role as market leader by soaring 11½ points to a new record high at 226½ and then easing to 224. Gen. Motors dipped to 200¼ in the early trading, rallied to within 3 points of its high at 207 and closed just below that figure for a net gain of 3¼ points. U. S. Steel Common closed fractionally lower at 153.

Violent fluctuations again took place in the Warner Bros. issue. The A stock opened 3½ points lower at 114½, soared to a new peak at 127, fell to 113, rebounded to 121½ and eased to 117½, off fractionally. Fox Film A fell from a record high of 106 to 101 3-4, up to 1 7-8 net. Paramount Famous Players and Stanley Co. of America also reached new high ground.

Commodity Markets Mixed

Park & Tilford was another strong feature, crossing 87 to a new high record on reports of steadily expanding earnings. Chrysler responded to reports of record-breaking sales by crossing 104 to a new peak. Among the many other issues to reach new high ground were Calumet & Hecla, American & Foreign Power, National Power & Light, Gold Dust and Brunswick Balke Collender. There were a few soft spots, notably American Linseed, which broke 10 points to 123.

Time money and commercial paper rates were unchanged, but the Bankers' Acceptance market displayed an easier undertone.

Commodity markets were mixed. Wheat futures continued under selling pressure although the losses in the active months were limited to a fraction of a cent a bushel. Cotton advanced 40 to 75 cents a bale. Coffee and sugar quotations showed little change.

Foreign exchange trading was quiet with a 28 point jump in Japanese yen to 45.78 cents as the only change of consequence. Sterling Cables held around $4.85 ¼.

AMUSEMENTS

AT THE DELFT.

Amazing contrasts incorporated in a logical story that grips, with outstanding performances by a great aggregation of players, makes Paramount's "Forgotten Faces" now at the Delft, an exceptional motion picture.

The production is billed as an all-star special and it is. Clive Brook, Mary Brian, Baclanova, William Powell, Fred Kohler and Jack Luden head the imposing list of talent in the cast. The story interest, unusual sets, vivid contrasts and dramatic value of the production entitle it to the rating of a special in the most complimentary sense of that term.

Imagine a picture that starts out with a night hold-up of a fashionable gambling house perpetrated by two crooks in evening clothes, carries on to the grim interior of a penitentiary, shows an attempted prison break, gives intimate glimpses of social life in a home of wealth and culture and then depicts the terrified reactions of a woman being slowly driven mad by fear.

AT THE STRAND.

One of the most spectacular runaways of a four-horse team on a narrow mountain grade, is seen in "Code of the Scarlet," Ken Maynard's latest western feature for First National Pictures now at the Strand Theatre. Ken is a specialist in dare-devil stunts, but this tops anything he has ever before attempted.

On a trip around the world on horse-back three well-known horsemen recently started from Warsaw, Poland.

CHICAGO GRAIN

Chicago, Sept. 5—The present range of wheat prices failed to interest buyers today and another small dip resulted. Corn, too, had a sinking spell in the early trading but made a turn about at the last when shorts took advantage of the dull day to cover up, and the close was at the highest figures of the day and a net advance over Tuesday.

Sales for export were reported at 200,000 bushels at the seaboard. Wheat closed easy at 5-8 to 1c decline, September 1.09¼ to 3-8; December 1.14 1-8 to 3-8; March 1.18 3-4 and May 1.21 1-8 to ¼.

Corn made a slow start, scattered selling taking down the current month a cent below Tuesday's close while the latter deliveries sloughed off 3-8. Toward the end, however, buyers came to life. The low prices lured shorts into the market, and while demand for cash corn was improving country offerings were small. Light frosts were predicted for parts of the southwest tonight. Corn closed firm, ¼ to 7-8c higher, September .93 to 1-8; December, .74 7-8 to 7-8 at .75; March .77 1-8 to ¼ and May .79 5-8.

TIGERS TROUNCE CHICAGO, 10-2

Detroit Batters Hit Everything White Sox Offer

Chicago, Sept. 5—(AP)—Detroit batsmen hit about everything tossed at them today, crushing the White Sox, 10 to 2, in their final series here this season.

Five pitchers, Walsh, Adkins, Blankenship, Cox and Dugan, worked for the White Sox but every member of the Tigers bagged at least one hit except Gehringer. Harry Heilmann got three hits in four attempts, while Stone got two triples.

Stoner and Carroll of Detroit limited Chicago to eight hits.

ALL SWIMMERS FORCED TO QUIT

Cold Waters of Ontario Too Much for 199 Starters

Toronto, Sept. 5—(AP)—The frigid waters of Lake Ontario swept clean a field of 199 distance swimmers stars here tonight when Georges Michel of France, sole survivor in the fifteen-mile marathon for prizes aggregating $35,000, was hauled from the course by his handlers after having covered twelve and one quarter miles in 11 hours and 12 minutes. This action rendered Michel ineligible to receive the $25,000 first prize which would have been his had he merely completed the course.

Michel's end came only a little distance beyond the point where Ernest Vierkoetter, German conqueror of the English channel and winner of the Toronto swim last year, had been taken from the water semi-conscious. The German was ahead of Michel by almost two miles at the time. But the Parisian automatically became the leader and a few moments later was the sole remaining competitor.

150,000 Present

Vierkoetter's end came suddenly and when he was looked upon as an almost certain winner. A few minutes earlier Roland H. Tegmeir of Seattle, Wash., more than a lap behind the German, had been forced from the water; and Louis I. Mathias of Long Island, N. Y., gave up shortly after Vierkoetter resigned. This left Michel alone to battle the cold, black waters as evening settled.

Despite the presence of only one athlete in the water, 150,000 persons crowded the gates of the Canadian Exposition to watch one man under flood-lights in his unequal battle against the cold lake. The end come at 10:12 o'clock to the tune of a deafening cheer from onlookers who appreciated the game battle of the second man in last year's twenty-one mile test.

SPORT SLANTS

BY ALAN J. GOULD
(Associated Press Sports Editor)

New York, Sept. 5—(AP)—Apparently the hope that there would be some cessation of hostilities among opposing factions in American athletic government in and out of the Amateur Athletic Union—at least until next winter—is not to be realized.

So far as the internal controvery involving two of the most prominent A. A. U. men, Fred W. Rubien and Murray Hulbert, is concerned, the lid is off again. Rubien has just delivered another broadside at Hulbert, using larger caliger words than he did when this personal feud flared up at Amsterdam during the Olympics and charging the National A. A. U. president with "arbitrary action" that "certainly injured America's athletic interests."

Hulbert, in return, promises a show-down with Rubien when the A. A. U. holds its annual convention here late in November, but the differences between these two men may develop wider ramifications.

So far as the conflict of the A. A. U. with other athletic bodies is concerned, notably the National Collegiate A. A., every indication points to a tightening of opposing lines. These particular groups split two years ago over the questions of Olympic management and control. An armistice was effected for the Olympic period but the old difficulties have not been settled.

Break May Occur.

"It is from the college ranks that opposition has sprung for some time to alleged A. A. U. domination of track and field competition and particularly the Olympics. Heretofore this opposition has come chiefly from the N. C. A. A. group, of which Brig. Gen. Palmer E. Pierce is the head and whose strength lies principally in the south and west.

It still is strong in those sectors but indications now point to the possibility of some rupture between the A. A. U. and the Intercollegiate A. A. A. A., the big eastern college group. Whether or not any actual break occurs between these, up to the present staunch allies, remains to be seen. Th fact is, however, that some official differences have developed.

What amounts to an organized campaign of propaganda against the A. A. U. for its methods of registering athletes and controlling amateur mets has been under way for some time in the middle west, where the so-called "revolt" against "A. A. U. domination" has gathered most headway.

Roberti Defeats Panama Fighter

New York, Sept. 5—(AP)—Roberto Roberti, 225 pound Italian, hammered King Solomon, pudgy heavyweight from Panama, through ten rounds of the feature bout at Ebbets Field tonight without threatening the veteran South American seriously with a knockout, Solomon weighed 193 ½.

Roberto dropped Solomon for no count with a right to the body in the third round, but hit the canvass himself in the tenth when a wild right swing merely fanned his oponent.

Solomon's best punches had little effect on Roberti, but the Italian conqueror of Johnny Risko on a foul was crude and clumsy in his efforts to out-box Solomon.

Study Cost of Livestock Output

Sonora, Texas—Borrowing an idea from manufacturers, ranchmen of Texas are trying to determine the cost of producing beef mutton, wool and mohair.

The Texas Agricultural and Mechanical college has extended the services of one of its statisticians, Dr. J. N. Tate, for the survey. Twenty-seven ranches in four counties are cooperating turning over to him their records of sales, purchases and expenses.

Findings already available indicate that the average income of the 27 ranches amounts to 10 per cent annually of the total investment.

Watrous today defeated Wilfrid Reid, of Indianapolis, in an 18-hole play-off for second place in the state qualifying round. Watrous' card was 72 while Reid turned in an 80. The two were tied for second yesterday with cards of 149. Hilgendorf took a 147 for the 36 holes.

COAN-KOHLMAN TAKE DOUBLES

Rowan Fitzharris Captures Singles Title From Austin Stegath

Leo Coan and Alfred Kohlman defeated Jack and Rowan Fitzharris in the finals in the first annual Lake Shore Tennis club open tennis tournament, Labor Day. The scores were 7-5, 6-3, 5-7, 6-8, 6-4. Coan and Kohlman went good the first two sets, winning without difficulty, but they lost the next two, the hardest-fought of the match. In the last set the Fitzharris brothers won the first game, and Coan and Kohlman annexed the next two. The third game Coan took his serve at love. The Fitzharris combination took the fourth and fifth games, making the set 3-2 in their favor, but Coan and Kohlman came back strong to take the next three. The Fitzharris brothers won the next game but Al Kohlman finished things by winning his serve.

Rowan Fitzharris beat Austin Stegath in the singles finals, 6-3, 6-8, 10-8, 6-2. The third set was the hardest fought of the match. Stegath had Fitzharris set point when the set was 5-4 in his favor, but Fitzharris won three straight points to take the game. The set then see-sawed back and forth until Fitzharris won two straight games when they were eight all.

The tennis tournament, sponsored by the Lake Shore Tennis club, was the first of its kind ever attempted in Escanaba. The local high schools and the state have staged high school tournaments here but this was the first time a group of Escanaba boys ever joined together on such a proposition. A similar one will be staged next year.

NO SCRAMBLE ABOUT RULES

Grid Committee Hopes All Disputes Are Settled in Book

BY EDWARD J. NEIL
(Associated Press Sports Editor)

New York, Sept. 5—(AP)—There will be no controversies, no violent arguments, no rushing to the intercollegiate football rules committee this season to settle a squabble over interpretations of the pigskin code if E. K. Hall, chairman of the committee, can help it.

Swooping down upon questions of "when is a shift not a shift" and other teasers, the rules committee, in a bulletin issued today, attempted to choke off argument and prevent varied interpretation of rules by officials in various sections of the country.

After issuance of the 1928 rule book in June, each member of the committee collected from coaches and officials in his district during the summer "all questions concerning which there might be reasonable doubt." These were considered and the questions answered for publication in bulletin form after a meeting of the committee in Montclair, N. J., August 24 and 25.

Give "Shift" Decision

While many of the questions considered required only the quoting of rules for answers, Thirteen were considered important enough for publication. Five of these dealt with "shift" interpretations, which the rules committee is making every effort to wipe out. All of the answers contained in the bulletin have the effect of official decisions "and may be treated as having the same force and effect as an approved ruling in the rules book." Nation-wide distribution through the some agencies handling the rules book has been undertaken by the committee.

The most important of the "shift" decisions, in the opinion of Mr. Hall, places a penalty of fifteen yards on any lineman charging into the neutral zone less than one second after a huddle and before the ball is put in play. The lineman has violated two rules, the first against offside play and the second calling for a full stop of at least one second after a huddle or shift. The greater penalty of the two, that of fifteen yards for an illegal shift, therefore is imposed.

Accident Feature of Grand Circuit Race Meet at Fair

Indianapolis, Sept. 5—(AP)—A spectacular accident featured the second heat of the Fox stake for two year old pacers at the Grand Circuit meeting at the state fair grounds today. Volowin, the favorite, who had won the first head, tripped and went down entering the upper turn.

Tony Worthy, driven by Palin; Mary Ann, driven by Beatty, and Direct K. Braden with Fleming in the sulky, all went down in a heap.

Judges distanced Volowin, holding that the accident was not unavoidable. Baron Hall won the $11,841 event, which gave his owner, E. J. Baker, $5,920, as his shade of the stake.

The Jack Trimble Silver Flesh Gas stake of $5,000 in the 2:10 pace was won in straight heats by Winnipeg. The 2:08 trot proved straight heat victories for Hazelton, while the 2:16 pace went to Gilda Gray after Labrador won the first heat.

Hilltoppers Get Intensive Drill In Fundamentals

Football fundamentals formed the basis of a stiff workout given about thirty-five candidates for the Escanaba high school football eleven at the athletic field yesterday afternoon.

Coach William Puckelwartz started the practice session by directing his charges through a series of limbering-up calisthenics. Later, he gave the line prospects an intensive drill in the art of charging and disposing of opposing linemen. The backfield men got considerable exercise in running with the pigskin from formation, but no real signal practice was included in the afternoon's program.

Punting, the running down of punts and their receival, passing, and open field running drills made up the rest of the practice program. In conclusion, the boys were ordered to participate in some marathon runs about the field, which was the climax of a hard day's work.

French Play Will Be Presented at Schaffer Sunday

"Jocrisse" is the title of the French play which will be staged at the parish hall at Schaffer Sunday evening, September 9, when the cast of characters will include some of the best talent of that village.

The scene is laid in the home of Madame Duval and the entire play is replete with funny situations. The play is given in the French language, an occasion which will be greatly appreciated by the French speaking residents of Schaffer, this city, and surrounding places who are planning to attend the performance which will commence at 8:15 sharp.

Specialties between acts will include a comedy by Messrs. Alfred Labranche and Leo Brunelle of this city, and the Gas House Trio well known artists will also render several selections. The Gas House Trio is composed of Joseph Greenfield, concertina, Martin Nygaard, accordion, and Epy Pearson, violin. This ensemble of musicians have played at several entertainments before and always draw a great deal of applause from the audiences.

The public is heartily welcome and the proceeds are for the benefit of Sacred Heart Church at Schaffer of which Rev. Fr. Philip de Neri Jutras is the pastor.

The city tax levy this year is $118,325.46, and up to yesterday only $31,623.61 had been collected, leaving a sum of $86,701.85 still remaining to be paid. The collections started on July 10.

MR. JOSEPH RICHER

DRECO BROUGHT GOOD HEALTH TO SCHAFFER FARMER

Used to Feel So Bad He Had No Ambition to Work

The Dreco which is now being so successfully introduced by the Dreco man at the Drug Dept. of The Fair Store is by no means a "cure-all". It is merely an effective combination of the oldtime plant, root, bark and herb extracts blended together in just the proper proportions to stimulate the system to healthy action and send rich red blood flowing through the veins. Many grateful citizens testify to the results obtained.

Mr. Joseph Richer, who works with his father on a farm near Schaffer, Wis., relates the following experience with Dreco. He says:

"For the past three years I have felt so rundown that I seemed to lose all my strength and ambition. The work on the farm was too much for me and it even seemed too much exertion to move. My stomach was disordered, spots would dance before my eyes and I had severe pains in my back and sides.

"I have taken Dreco for less than three weeks but even now I feel greatly improved. The pains in my back and sides have left. My stomach is in good condition and I now feel so much stronger and more energetic that it now actually is a pleasure to go out in the fields and work."

The Dreco Man is now at the Drug Dept. of the Fair Store, where he is daily explaining the merits of Dreco to numerous local people and presenting everyone who is interested with a valuable health booklet free.—Adv.
